God's Universal Laws

The Law of Freewill

We are only the thinkers in our own mind. There is no one or nothing that causes us to think the way we do other than ourselves. As we come to know and understand that our thoughts are the causation factor of what experiences we have in Life – thoughts are the reason or cause behind everything we experience in Life – we will understand why it is so important to think in the right manner. While we were told from ancient writings to biblical translations that our thoughts and actions govern our Life, our ability to choose what we want to think about is what makes us free individuals – it is the key to freedom. Here again in Genesis 1:28 God didn't tell man how to go be fruitful, multiply, replenish or subdue. What he told man was to go do these things and do them as you learn how to do them. Thus, not only did God give man freedom over dominion of every living thing that moved upon the earth but the ability to think on whatever he wanted.
