God's Universal Laws

The Law of Thought

In this 28th verse of Genesis 1 God commanded man to be fruitful, multiply, replenish and subdue the earth. At the time God gave man this commandment, there was no sin that had taken place. Therefore, to do so required man to be able to continually be linked mind-to-mind with God to allow this to happen. Because designed us in our original state to be connected to him our thoughts came from God and as we needed to do things God provided the direction.

One Adam and Eve transgressed against God in the garden then the mind-to-mind connection was destroyed. Man through the act of his freewill moved away from God and now all the thoughts of God that provided our direction had to be taught to man in order to function in the fallen world he created as a result of sin. God did not give man the specific manner by which to accomplish this but only to accomplish it. The process of determining how to do these things was through a thought process of man as he taught himself to accomplish tasks on earth. He had to not only be able to think but he had to apply logic not only to his thoughts but to the process itself. While we are only told of this law in the writings, we were not given the details of how the principle of thought worked. The key here is in the word subdue – the process of the specific thought that God commended man to perform. In this commandment, God was telling man to bring under mental or emotional control his thoughts as to how to acquire the knowledge of and mastery over his material environment.¹⁹ What God told man was to go do all these things but first you have to figure out how to do it. Now here is where science has had a field day of this through time. God said there was a process to this thought thing and the how was up to man to figure out.

Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia defined” The Law of Thought as a set of fundamental axiomatic rules (a system of any set of axioms from which some or all axioms can be used in conjunction to logically derive theorems²⁰) upon which rational discourse itself is based. The rules have a long tradition in the history of philosophy. They are laws that guides and underline everyone's thinking, thoughts, expressions, discussions, etc.” It was the Greek philosopher Aristotle who began to define the sub laws of thought. Throughout history from Aristotle to today’s scientists and philosophers we are continuing to define the sub laws of thought. These sub laws are not of God but of a mindset of a fallen world.

Many of our history, language and other influences came from ancient philosophers that were able to sway the time with their beliefs. Have you ever considered the backgrounds of the people you listen to. You do know that person basis is contained with anyone speech. What do you think the ancient philosophers left us and that we use today. I think this may be mind blowing for you.

Let's go back in time and see what we can find.

Aristotle taught the ten categories of logic. Do you remember these from high school or even a college philosophy class. His writing along with those of Plato and Socrates when you examine the lives of them were solely based upon a life full of pain and trauma. In fact, if you did some good research you will find that they were raped as children, took up the black arts later in life and actual participated in child trafficking. This was true for many of the Greek philosophers. We find the same in Anastasia. This is the reason why their writings are not through the anointing of God but through their penmanship of their pain and trauma.

What many of you do not understand is these philosophers and others parts they played in underground pedophilia networks that was created by another Greek Philosophers by the name of Demosthenes. Demosthenes, (born 384 bce, Athens [Greece]—died Oct. 12, 322, Calauria, Argolis), Athenian statesman, recognized as the greatest of ancient Greek orators, who roused Athens to oppose Philip of Macedon and, later, his son Alexander the Great.

The number 322 is on the insignia logo of Yale University Skull and Bones secret society. So Demosthenes, the great orator in Hellenistic Greek History, just happens to be the first man in history to build the first underground child sex trafficking dumb. You can find this in the Oxford Dictionary of Greek Hellenistic History. Second to the serpent. The Yale Skulls and Bones God is a pedophile - Demosthenes.

Plato, Socrates, Aristotle and Dionysius Thrax (you get the terms syntax and anthrax) who gave us much of our English language. Remember, we have stated that you cannot interpret God through a fallen language of the serpent in what we call an adjective, noun or pronoun. English is the language of the serpent just like the USA Dollar is the currency of the world.

Aristotle created the paradigm of the term adjective. Adjective is broken down as "AD" and "JECTIVE". Jective means to jab or puncture. Adjective in the Greek and Cyprian language as the Cyprian term epitheto which means epithet. An epithet is a curse and an insult. Insult is where we get the Indian sandcript term of Sultan. So Aristotle designed the paradigm of an adjective meaning to jab or puncture with an epithet (curse).

Plato along with Dionysius Thrax and the Platonic Philosophy created the paradigm of the term noun. Noun is interpreted in the Greek word Ousiastiko which means witch-core. Witch core is then interpreted in the Cyprian word nuon (that is the correct spelling). Nuon means the sweeping of a witches broom. So noun is connected to witch-core, the paradigm of dark thinking into NUON which means the transportation of witches via the witches broom.

Socrates created the paradigm of the term pronoun. Pronoun is interpreted in the Greek and Cyprian Lexicon as the term antonymia which means a gram and a gon (Hexagram, Pentagon). Antonymia is interpreted in the Greek word antonym which means curse. Gram becomes the acronym foundation for grammar.

What we see is our entire western language has been infiltrated with curses through demonic influences.

God speaks through thought. We receive these thoughts through the Holy Spirit which lives inside each one of the followers of Christ. If we move away from the physical mind thinking to the spiritual mind of thought then we are living in alignment with Christ.
